DEEP trouble

An underwater species claims ownership of the Earth in a Doctor Who spin-off starring Russell Tovey

NEW SCI-FI

The War Between the Land and the Sea

Sunday, 8.30pm & 9.15pm, BBC1

The re-emergence of an ancient sea-dwelling humanoid race sparks a fierce battle to determine who the rightful owners of our planet are in new Doctor Who spin-off The War Between the Land and the Sea.

Russell Tovey stars in the five-part miniseries as Barclay Pierre-Dupont, a low-ranking employee of top-secret intelligence agency UNIT, who is chosen as a civilian witness to the first encounter between humankind and the species dubbed 'homo aqua'.

However, when a summit between the two parties turns antagonistic, Barclay's unexpected connection with aquatic ambassador Salt (Gugu Mbatha-Raw) puts him at the heart of the conflict.

In an exclusive interview with TV&Satellite Week, Tovey, 44, and showrunner Russell T Davies, 62, reveal what's in store…

Where did the idea for The War Between the Land and the Sea come from?

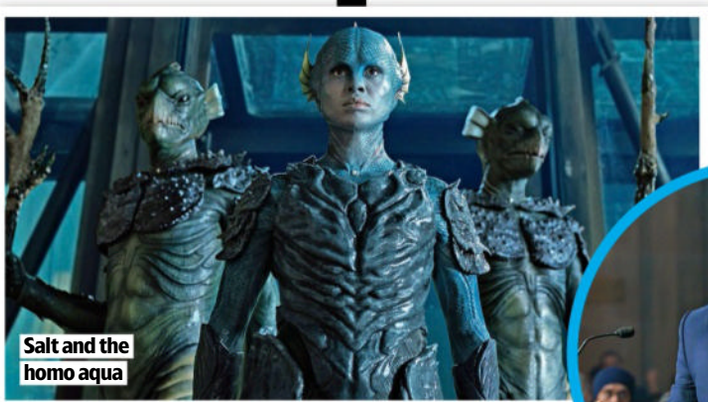
Davies I've got a house in Swansea, and I go and sit at a place called Langland Point to watch the sea a lot – it is beautiful, but kind of scary as well. I've been doing that since 2009 or so, having many thoughts, but, of course, the Doctor Who part of my brain can't help going, 'I'm looking at the sea – what if it's looking back?' And here we are!

How does Barclay handle this huge, sudden responsibility?

Tovey He's 100% out of his depth. Barclay's a regular Joe, he's got a lowly position within an important operation, but he doesn't strive for a bigger role – he's not very ambitious. He's divorced, he's got one child, and his priority is being a good dad, which he is. When he gets thrust into this position of power, which he did not desire, he accepts this responsibility and tries his hardest to be the best version of whatever everyone's expecting him to be.



Salt and the homo aqua

Heart of the conflict: Barclay

You've been in Doctor Who before (as midshipman Alonso Frame in the 2007 Christmas special). What was it like returning to the Whoniverse as a new character?

Tovey Kylie Minogue was in that episode and it was a very special time for me. I was so proud of that role. Barclay and Frame are both kind people, and they've both had heroism forced upon them, but they're completely different characters.

What can you reveal about the relationship between Barclay and Salt? It seems to take Barclay by surprise…

Tovey I think that everything comes as a surprise to Barclay! He's not prepared for any of this. He doesn't understand why he's been chosen, but as the show goes on, Salt allows him to understand himself more and creates this amazing bond between the two of them that becomes so fundamental for the planet, but so deeply intimate and personal as well.

Davies We discover so much about Salt; she's got such a range of emotions. Every single story that can possibly happen between Barclay and Salt happens on screen, and it's very exciting.

UNIT have often been there in the background on Doctor Who. Was it thrilling to have the chance to put the group in the spotlight?

Davies Yes – it wasn't conceived as a UNIT spin-off, really, but once something happens on a worldwide scale like this, then UNIT has to be involved; it's what they were created to do. [Commander-in-chief] Kate Lethbridge-Stewart doesn't enter the action until 30 minutes into Episode 1, but then goes rapidly to centre stage. UNIT always has an easier life when the Doctor's there because he's going to save the day, but this time we see that team working really hard. When the danger comes, it's so exciting.

Russell T Davies

WHO ARE THE SEA DEVILS?

Homo aqua in The War Between the Land and the Sea is the race previously known as the Sea Devils. They first appeared in the 1972 Doctor Who serial of the same name, written by Malcolm Hulke and starring Jon Pertwee as the Doctor.

'A lot of us still called them Sea Devils on set,' says Davies. 'But you can't call them that for long on screen, because that was said in 1972 by a man who'd been driven insane by these lizards that had come out of the sea, and he was screaming, "Sea devils!" at the Doctor – so it's not a taxonomically correct phrase!'

Davies adds that care was taken to be faithful to the original concept.

'I don't think it's a revamp, just a natural evolution,' he says. 'Their history is referred to, but it's a new show.'

Rob Beckett and Romesh Ranganathan head to India to make it in the movies...

Bollywood OR BUST!

NEW ENTERTAINMENT

Rob & Romesh Vs...

Tue, 9pm, Sky Max & Sky Showcase

Rob Beckett and Romesh Ranganathan will be dusting off their dancing shoes as they aim for Bollywood stardom in a new series of their BAFTA-winning entertainment show, returning for its eighth run on Sky.

The first episode of a four-part series sees the pals packing their bags for Mumbai to meet some of the billion-dollar film industry's biggest stars, who'll do their best to help them land a role in a movie.

'I wanted to do something that might get Rob cancelled,' smiles Ranganathan. 'Flirting with that is always a funny thing to do, and I thought India was a good place for it to potentially happen – so fingers crossed!'

After taking a crash course of acting lessons and reluctantly shaving off their beards, the pair are ready for their big audition, but will they impress the director enough to make the final cut?

Here, Ranganathan, 47, tells us more about their adventures this time round…

Practising their dance moves on set

How much fun did you have filming the Bollywood episode? I loved it. Bollywood is something we'd talked about for a while, because it's such an amazing industry and such a fun one. Also, we're taking Rob Beckett to India, so the comedy takes care of itself!

How did you get the Bollywood look? We shaved our beards off but kept our moustaches. The tash is such an iconic Bollywood look and I hadn't seen my chin for such a long time, so it was really nice to get reacquainted. I was a bit nervous at first, but in the end my agent became concerned by how many photos I was sending to her of the tash. She said, 'I think you're in love with this look, Rom.' I've kept the beard off ever since, but I've been getting a lot of people saying I look like Lionel Richie.

What's your favourite episode of the series? My highlight was the second episode, which is all about hip-hop. We went to New York and met Raekwon from Wu-Tang Clan, who are my heroes. I actually had a Wu-Tang tattoo before that episode and I've had two more since. I'm obsessed with them. Usually when I meet someone I admire, I make a fool of myself, so that episode was far higher stakes for me than it was for Rob.

Does Rob not like hip-hop? I think the first time Rob listened to a Wu-Tang song was on our way to that interview. He does like a bit of hip-hop, but it's like talking to your nan about it, so I was annoyed when Raekwon took to him. I must have done all right too, though, because Wu-Tang Clan asked me to do the voice-over for their European tour announcement. I think I’m on my way to becoming a member.

ROMESH RANGANATHAN

What else do you get up to? We enter the Wildlife Photographer of the Year contest and went to Sumatra. I thought it would be pretty easy to be photographers, but our ability to be put in the most incredible position and still mess it up was breathtaking. I mean, the orangutans could have come over and shaken hands with us, and we still wouldn’t have got a good shot of them.

We hear you’ll also try your hand at Shakespeare and tread the boards at the Globe theatre...

Rob and I were both relatively cynical about Shakespeare, because at school you’re constantly told his plays are amazing, which inevitably leads to some resentment. So part of our journey was to try to appreciate what Shakespeare is about. If smart, funny and intelligent people are telling you it’s worth your time, then you have to trust them and be open to it.

Did you enjoy acting on stage?

Acting is difficult – it’s certainly more difficult than you think before you start doing it. But what adds an extra layer of difficulty is when you don’t fully have a grasp on what the language is. The other thing is, as soon as we’re in the costumes, people think we’re doing a comedy bit. You’re trying to do a serious scene and people are looking at your codpieces, which slightly undermines it.

SERIES GUIDE

Vs Bollywood

The pals head to Mumbai, where they hope to earn roles in a blockbuster Bollywood movie, with the help of two of its biggest stars, Ali Fazal and Anupam Kher.

Vs Hip Hop

The boys travel to New York, the birthplace of hip-hop, to meet one of Ranganathan’s heroes – Wu-Tang Clan’s Raekwon – before he faces his biggest fear, performing in a freestyle showcase.

Vs The Jungle (with Wildlife Photographer of the Year)

Setting their sights on winning the prestigious competition, the pair venture into the depths of the Sumatran jungle and seek some wow-factor subject matter.

Vs Shakespeare

It’s men in tights as the duo perform Shakespeare’s tragedy Romeo and Juliet at the famous Globe theatre in London, with the help of actors Jessie Buckley and Martin Freeman.

Rani with Lancaster and Stewart

Jingle bell ROCKER

Sir Rod Stewart and his wife Penny Lancaster share their favourite Christmas memories...

NEW FACTUAL

My Life at Christmas with Anita Rani

Sunday, 10.30am, BBC1

Stewart at Glastonbury

Countryfile* presenter Anita Rani joins Sir Rod Stewart in his rock-star mansion to talk about what the holidays mean to him in the first of her new festive airing of BBC1's My Life at Christmas.

As they sit by the fire, surrounded by decorations, the 80-year-old music icon, who performed in the coveted 'legends' slot at Glastonbury this year, shares his memories of his Christmases as a child, and how he went from being born in an attic in Highgate, London, to becoming one of the world's biggest rock stars.

'Going to Rod Stewart and Penny Lancaster's home was magic. It absolutely didn't disappoint,' says Rani, 48. 'First of all, his home is epic and beautiful, but also really homely. I've sort of fallen in love with both him and Penny. They're very down to earth and have a beautiful generosity of spirit.

'It also sounds like Rod had the best Christmases at his parents' house when he was younger. He told me his dad even used to go down to the basement and put in some wooden supports to stop the floor collapsing because he knew there would be loads of dancing!'

FAMILY COMES FIRST

Over the course of their fireside chat, Stewart also opens up about his Scottish roots, his love of Celtic Football Club and the importance of family.

'I was grateful for how honest he was,' says Rani. 'The series is also about spirituality and faith, and it was really nice to sit by the fire with him, sharing wine gums and having a thoughtful, meaningful conversation through the prism of Christmas. Rod is big on Christmas and he always likes to spend it at home. For him it's all about family, family, family.

'And credit where credit's due, Penny is next-level impressive. Rod has got a few exes and there's this big mixed family, but she looks after everybody and is across absolutely everything. She's the homemaker, but she's also a special constable in the police! I've got a lot of respect for Penny.'

Later in the three-part series, Rani also chats to Baroness Floella Benjamin and Paralympian turned presenter Ade Adepitan. However, Rani says her own Christmas plans could be very different this year thanks to a special invitation.

'Every year, Rod and Penny have a big Christmas party for friends and family and this year Rod's invited me,' she laughs. 'It's all on camera, so he can't get out of it now.

'I'm not sure they'll be doing the cooking, though. I mean, they're lovely people but they do have staff. And you would, wouldn't you? If I was a rock star, I'd have someone cooking up a storm for me!'

COMING UP

Episode 2

Ade Adepitan

'Christmas is all about family for Ade and I can't wait for people to hear his story,' says Rani. 'For about 10 years, he didn't speak to his family. He was brought up in quite a strict household and he went off to do his own thing. But now he has two beautiful children and his own family, and every year they go away with his in-laws for Christmas. It's a moving episode and viewers will need a box of tissues nearby.'

Episode 3

Baroness Floella Benjamin

'I grew up watching Floella on Play School and she's just extraordinary,' says Rani. 'This is a woman who came to Britain as part of the Windrush generation and experienced a harsh life in London, but went on to become Baroness Floella Benjamin of Beckenham. We even met in her private members' club! Floella is obsessed with Christmas. She's collected loads of decorations over the years and still has a festive object that her son made when he was three years old.'

LAST ONE DRAMA

Play for Today

Thursday, 9pm, 5

A passionate but stressed-out English teacher reaches breaking point in 5's one-off drama Special Measures.

The final instalment in the Play for Today anthology centres on Amy Garrison, played by Jessica Plummer, who teaches at a struggling secondary school. One morning, while her mind is on a pregnancy test she has taken, she learns that her head of department has quit. Now, she has to cope with extra work, an irate parent, and overwhelmed, inexperienced colleagues – just when an Ofsted inspection is getting under way.

'Amy's a good teacher but I don't think it could get any worse for her on this particular day,' says Plummer, 33, whose credits include EastEnders and Missing You. 'Everything that could go wrong does – and, sadly, what happens isn't uncommon in our schools. She's spinning multiple plates, and it's whether she can keep them all up or not.'

Amy teaching her pupils

BACK TO SCHOOL

As Amy's issues exacerbate, she also encounters a pupil, Callum Hughes (Austin Haynes), who is late for school, wearing the wrong uniform and displaying uncharacteristic aggression. When he appeals to her for help, can she be there for him?

The drama, which is penned by one-time teacher Lee Thompson, was filmed in a real school, which helped Plummer get into character.

'It was strange being in an actual staffroom, and walking past a canteen. When the bell went off, it took me back,' she reveals. 'But the kids [who appear in the programme as supporting artists] were brilliant – having real-life schoolchildren in the scenes definitely added to the atmosphere.'

LEARNING CURVE

To research her role, Plummer also reveals she turned to her mum, who is a teacher.

'She was my point of reference. I'd witness her coming home after school and marking books, then wake up early to do lesson prep. I know the pressure doesn't stop,' she explains. 'There's so much work that you don't see – the job is more than teaching the subjects on the curriculum.'

The actor hopes that the drama will shine a spotlight on the challenges currently being faced by the teaching profession.

'I have such respect for teachers. They're doing everything from supporting SEND students [children with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities] to pushing healthy eating,' she reflects. 'But England has one of the worst teacher-retention rates in the developed world. Supporting teachers is so important. They're shaping future generations.'

Ellie Taylor

NEW Ellie Taylor: Palavering!

Wed, 10pm, Sky Comedy & Sky Showcase

Born in Brentwood, Essex, comedian Ellie Taylor played Roman businesswoman Gloria in Plebs (2018-19) and child psychologist Flo Collins in Ted Lasso (2020-23). In 2022, she took part in Strictly Come Dancing (inset), partnering Johannes Radebe, and she has also co-hosted The Great Pottery Throw Down and appeared on The Great British Bake Off: An Extra Slice.

HER NEW SHOW

This week, Taylor performs a new stand-up comedy show, her first in four years. Filmed at the Bloomsbury Theatre in London, she will be riffing on her life with her two young children and how she keeps the spark alive in her marriage to her husband, Australian TV reporter Phil Black. 'It's the best show I've ever done,' says Taylor. 'It's a stocktake of what I've been up to in life. It's a new stage for me. I've got another baby, I've turned 42, I've got an air fryer with two drawers – it's all changed.'

The late Robert Redford makes his last screen appearance...

So long, SUNDANCE

NEW CRIME DRAMA

Dark Winds

Tuesday, 9pm, U&Alibi

Hollywood icon Robert Redford sadly died on 16 September this year at the age of 89, but there's a chance to catch his final poignant appearance in the new season of Dark Winds on U&Alibi.

Based on the novels by Tony Hillerman, the cop thriller – which Redford also executive produced – follows Navajo Nation police officers in the 1970s and stars Zahn McClarnon as Lt Joe Leaphorn and Kiowa Gordon as his deputy Jim Chee, who this season are investigating the disappearance of two Navajo boys.

Redford's cameo comes in the first episode as he joins his fellow executive producer, Game of Thrones author George RR Martin, to play two prisoners embroiled in a game of chess in the local police station.

'I read my first Tony Hillerman novel back in 1986 while I was filming in New Mexico and I

NEW COOKERY

Jamie's Cook-Ahead Christmas

Monday, 8pm, C4

Jamie Oliver has dished up his fair share of festive feasts over the years, so the chef knows only too well how stressful cooking the seasonal meal can become.

Now, in Jamie's Cook-Ahead Christmas, he does us all a favour by showcasing a specially designed menu so that home cooks can get Christmas dinner wrapped up before the big day.

'Cooking the Christmas dinner year after year can feel daunting, but not this year. It's all in the planning to save you time on the day, so you – the cook – can actually enjoy yourself,' was immediately hooked,' Redford said of his passion for the Dark Winds series. 'His writing is full of mystery and suspense, set amid a background that blends traditional oral stories of Native American culture and landscape.'

POLISHED PERFORMANCE

Shot several months before he died at his home in Utah, the scene caps a storied career that includes several screen classics (see panel, right), plus a Best Director Oscar for Ordinary People in 1981.

Dark Winds showrunner John Wirth says Redford was the perfect professional on set, despite being 88 at the time of filming.

'I was afraid he was going to get tired and we were taking too much time,' says Wirth. 'But in the process of shooting the scene, I saw him take a deep breath and become Robert Redford right before my eyes.

'He's really fun in the scene. He's everything he ever was – and it was absolutely thrilling to stand there and watch him do that.'

smiles Oliver, 50. 'Delicious stuffing, seasonal gravy and a gorgeous dessert can all be made in advance.'

In the opening episode of the C4 two-parter, Oliver focuses on dishes that can be prepared weeks ahead and stashed in the freezer. On the menu are a versatile potato-and-fennel gratin and a crowd-pleasing gravy suitable for vegetarians, vegans and gluten-free guests that can also be beefed up with turkey juices for meat lovers.

The chocolate Arctic roll

'What I love about these get-ahead recipes is that we can build up an arsenal of deliciousness in our fridge and freezers,' he says. 'The potato-and-fennel gratin is a fantastic side dish but can also be turned into a showstopping pie, giving you choices, while my gravy recipe looks after everyone.'

EASY-PEASY

He also prepares his stuffing and a chocolate Arctic-roll dessert, while in the following episode he turns his attention to the all-important turkey and shares his top tips for perfect roast potatoes, before walking us through how to put the entire meal together on Christmas Day.

'I will be with you every step of the way,' he promises. 'You can pick one or two of these ideas or do the whole lot. It will make sure this Christmas is all about great food, great company and no last-minute stress.'

Rowan Atkinson is back as a hapless house sitter with an unexpected guest...

Teething problems

NETFLIX Man Vs Baby

NEW Available: Thu 11 December
Genre: Comedy Season: 1
Episodes: 4

Following his battle with an irritating insect in 2022 buzzy comedy Man Vs Bee, Rowan Atkinson is back for a second round, as he faces an even more unpredictable opponent in four-part sequel Man Vs Baby.

Bumbling dad Trevor Bingley (Atkinson) is now working as a school caretaker, but with his ex-wife Jess and daughter Maddy heading to Barbados for Christmas, he accepts a high-paying house-sitting job in a lavish London penthouse.

When no one shows up to collect the infant playing the baby Jesus after the nativity play, however, Trevor is forced to take the 'bundle of joy' with him to London, where his high-maintenance little house guest ensures a Christmas brimming with sleepless nights and explosive nappies.

Co-penned by Atkinson and Johnny English writer William Davies, the 30-minute episodes also feature guest stars Sunetra Sarker, Ashley Jensen and Steve Edge.

Here, Mr Bean and Blackadder icon Atkinson, 70, reveals the Crib-mas calamity in store…

What predicament has Trevor found himself in now? Well, he ends up stuck with a baby after the school nativity, but he also needs money to help Maddy [Alanah Bloor] go to college in France, so he accepts a well-paid job house-sitting an oligarch's penthouse. Of course, it's complicated by the fact that he's got to secretly look after the baby because he can't just leave it on the street.

Co-star Ashley Jensen

Is the baby easier to handle than a bothersome bee? The irritation of the bee drove Trevor into a psychopathic state, but we see a much nicer, softer side to him in this. He doesn't have any baby paraphernalia, though, so he uses the property owners' Hermès scarves for nappies and a Fortnum & Mason hamper for a crib. He also uses a champagne cork to pacify the baby in lieu of a dummy, but that's the magic of TV because we obviously couldn't put a cork in the baby's mouth.

Was it challenging working with a baby? We had twins, who were great. Babies are scene-stealers, which is their very nature, but it was tricky at times because one baby might suddenly get grumpy and you'd have to swap him for the twin brother. And they're only allowed to be on set for a short amount of time, so logistics were challenging. I'm pretty comfortable holding a baby, though – experience helps. Their parents and carers ensured they were looked after, too.

Rowan Atkinson as Trevor

Trevor has to improvise

Do you enjoy playing Trevor? He's one of the nicest characters I've ever played. Blackadder is cynical and negative, and Mr Bean is selfish and childish. They're not nice people, but nice people tend not to be funny. Trevor is relentlessly well-meaning and perhaps represents the nicer side of me, while my other characters are perhaps the darker side of me. He's a worthy addition to the canon, definitely.

Will you be watching Man Vs Baby this Christmas? I've worked on this every day for more than a year. I'm part of writing and post-production, so currently I feel a bit too close to it. But when it's all edited, I hope I can watch it like anybody else and enjoy it. As long as people enjoy what I've put a lot of effort into producing, I'm happy.

Angry divorcees band together to punish their former spouses

Paramount+ The Revenge Club

NEW Available: Friday 12 December Genre: Drama Season: 1 Episodes: 6

They say revenge is a dish best served cold, and there's a distinctly chilly atmosphere in the divorce support group at the heart of darkly comic thriller The Revenge Club.

The group aims to give heartbroken members closure and the chance to move on. But as they get chatting in the pub after the session, they all agree that what they really want is payback...

That's the set-up in this six-part drama, which sees the diverse co-conspirators hatch ingenious plans to punish the spouses who betrayed them. And with no links outside the group, they're ideally positioned to escape detection.

'It's always fun to play a morally complex character,' explains Slow Horses' Aimee-Ffion Edwards, whose character Emily has lost not only her husband and best friend, but also her PR company and marital home. 'With Emily, we go on this really dark journey, and we see her unravel but also grow in strength in ways she didn't expect.'

Part of that journey is growing close to roofer Calum (Line of Duty's Martin Compston), who dotes on his daughter but isn't the most reliable of fathers.

DESPERATE MEASURES

'Calum's whole life revolves around his daughter, who's slipping away from him,' says Compston. 'Like a lot of people in the show, he's a bit broken and desperate, which leads him to do a lot of silly and, hopefully, funny things.'

Making up the group is ex-military man Steve (Shetland's Douglas Henshall), plus the equally vengeful Rachel (Daddy Issues' Sharon Rooney), Rita (The Devil's Hour's Meera Syal) and Tej (Sex Education's Chaneil Kular).

'If you've lived any kind of life at all, you've had your heart broken, so I think almost anybody can relate to this,' says Henshall. 'But it's about how getting revenge on people who have hurt you is not necessarily the thing that you needed.'

MGM+ Spartacus: House of Ashur

NEW Available: Sat 6 December Genre: Drama Season: 1 Episodes: 10 (first two episodes from Sat 6 Dec, then weekly)

Achillia in action

Fans of the Spartacus TV franchise must have thought they'd seen the last of ex-gladiator Ashur (Nick E Tarabay) when he was decapitated on Mount Vesuvius at the end of 2012's Spartacus: Vengeance.

However, the scheming Syrian lives to fight another day in this new spin-off, which imagines what might have happened to Ashur had he lived and been rewarded for his treachery in giving up Spartacus and his army of rebel slaves.

'Ashur is just such a juicy character,' says creator Steven S DeKnight. 'He is a villain in the original series, so one of the challenges we faced was how to get the audience behind him. And the answer is, introduce even worse people!'

Having been given the ludus (gladiator school) of his former employer Batiatus, Ashur is trying to climb the greasy pole of Roman society. After suffering setbacks, he spots the potential of female slave Achillia (Tenika Davis), whom he convinces can earn her freedom by becoming a successful gladiator.

'I always saw Ashur as a loyal dude who wants to belong but wasn't given that opportunity,' says Tarabay. 'In this season, he's going up against the big dogs like Caesar and Cornelia, the biggest people of Rome. After meeting them, you'll think Ashur isn't so bad after all.'

The young demigod returns for a perilous quest

Disney+ Percy Jackson and the Olympians

NEW Available: Wednesday 10 December
Genre: Fantasy drama Season: 2 Eps: 8
(first two eps from 10 Dec, then weekly)

Myths, monsters and mayhem abound as the adaptation of Rick Riordan's bestselling children's books returns for a second outing.

Having finally come to terms with the fact that his father is the Greek god Poseidon, there's another big shock in store for Percy Jackson (Walker Scobell) when he discovers that he has a half-brother in the form of cyclops Tyson (Daniel Diemer).

'Tyson's creating a lot of problems for Percy everywhere he goes,' says Scobell. 'When Tyson claims to be his half-brother, people start making fun of Percy. It just aggravates him more, and he thinks that his relationship with his father is kind of a joke now.'

MONSTROUS MISSION

Sibling rivalries soon have to be put to one side, however, when the protective borders of Camp Half-Blood – the secret training ground for the half-mortal children of gods – are compromised, and Percy learns that his best friend Grover (Aryan Simhadri) has been kidnapped.

In order to save his pal and ensure the safety of the camp, Percy, along with Annabeth (Leah Sava' Jeffries), must journey through the Sea of Monsters to retrieve the Golden Fleece.

'There are two quests this year – to get the Golden Fleece, and to get Grover back,' says Scobell, 16. 'While they are both in the same place, Percy is mainly going to save Grover.

'The quests test Percy in a different way, too. In Season 1, there were definitely a lot of physical challenges, but it was mainly Percy trying to understand the world that he's in. For Season 2, we get to jump right into the action and start fighting.'

One of the high-octane elements of the new season is the revival of chariot-riding at Camp Half-Blood, and Scobell found himself thrown in at the deep end when it came to filming the stunt sequences.

'I didn't know I was going to do any chariot-riding, because it's so dangerous,' he reflects. 'I got to watch some footage and it looked terrifying, but when I got on set, I had to learn it right there. It was crazy!'

NEW FACTUAL

Apollo 1: Destination Moon

Sunday, 9.30pm, C4

The Apollo 11 astronauts who walked on the moon in 1969 will never be forgotten. However, they weren't the first NASA pioneers who were aiming to make history on an Apollo mission.

The famous first moon landing only came after years of testing, practice flights and a heartbreaking tragedy that claimed the lives of three of the astronauts' predecessors.

Gus Grissom, Ed White and Roger B Chaffee all perished in a cabin fire during a launch rehearsal for Apollo 1 in January 1967.

'We got home one day and Neil Armstrong's wife Jan was on our driveway,' says Bonnie Bauer, White's daughter. 'Me and my little brother were sent to our room while she spoke to Mum. It was the worst thing you could ever possibly hear.'

Featuring archive footage and interviews with the astronauts' family, colleagues and those who worked on the Apollo project, this one-off C4 film tells the story of the disaster as the Americans and Soviets raced for the stars in the 1960s.

After the Soviets captured the first images of the lunar surface, the pressure on NASA to put a man on the moon only intensified.

'We were struggling with the command module,' recalls Apollo spacecraft-propulsion engineer John Tribe. 'As we were learning things, we were continually modifying the vehicle, so as fast as we were building it, we were changing it, pulling wiring out and putting new wiring in. Time was passing and it was pressure, pressure, pressure.'

CUTTING CORNERS

As frustrations grew, that pressure led to corners being cut, and on 27 January 1967, a deadly fire broke out in the Apollo 1 module during a practice launch.

'We all knew there was bad workmanship and wires exposed,' explains NASA flight director Chris Kraft. 'But I don't think anyone recognised the seriousness of the danger we had put the crew in.'

The deaths of the three astronauts shocked America, and also triggered a great shift in approach within the space programme, with dozens of employees being moved on and new bosses coming in.

'Without the sacrifice of Apollo 1, we would never have made it to the moon,' says Grissom's brother, Lowell Grissom. 'I was very proud when it happened and I think that's what Gus would have wanted.'

Civilisations: Rise and Fall

Monday, 9pm, BBC2

The Aztecs were a powerful nation of warriors led by their strong ruler, the emperor Moctezuma II. But as this week's episode recounts, their civilisation was destroyed when the Spanish adventurer Hernán Cortés came to Mexico in the early 1500s, looking to pillage its treasures and inadvertently infecting the Aztecs with deadly smallpox.

Pete Wicks: For Dogs' Sake Christmas Special

Monday, 9pm, U&W

Pete Wicks presents the first Yuletide edition of his hit series For Dogs' Sake this week as he visits Dogs Trust rescue centres across the UK to help the charity's dedicated staff in supporting and rehoming a range of vulnerable pooches.

We caught up with Wicks, 37, to find out more...

What can you tell us about the Christmas special? I hate Christmas! But it's such a family time of year and the festive special is very Christmassy. There are lots of presents for the dogs – we make it fun for them.

A group of eight collies arrive at the Basildon centre. What can you reveal about them? That was a really sad story – three adult dogs and five puppies came in from a horrific situation. I named one of the older collies Grandad Graham. Dogs Trust has an amazing place called Oakfield Oldies, which is a converted house where elderly dogs have their own bedrooms. It's like a little retirement home! So Grandad Graham went there. He got rehomed by this lovely lady, and that's a beautiful story.

You also pay a visit to HARP, a homelessness charity that works with Dogs Trust. What can you tell us about that? Dogs Trust has many different initiatives, and does a lot of work with the homeless. Dogs Trust gives out packages to homeless people's dogs. We met some really interesting characters and their wonderful animals.

There's a reunion with the 'Potato Pups' – a litter of mongrel puppies who arrived at the Leeds centre in a crisp box – from the first series. What was that like? Really special. They went off to their different families and we have a Christmas party to find out how they are.

You also meet up with Italian mastiff Theo, who has a life-limiting heart condition, from the last series... I knew it would make me an emotional wreck! Reuniting him with his wonderful former handler, Louis, was special. Theo's like a different dog with his new family – you can see his happiness. He's living his best life. His story has gone from heartbreak to joy.

MOVIE OF THE WEEK

Brad Pitt puts the pedal to the metal in this exhilarating, tension-fuelled racer

SPORT ACTION

From Friday, Apple TV+ ★★★★

Brad Pitt is an ageing ex-Formula 1 racing driver who, having given up after a serious accident years earlier, gets a second shot at the ultimate thrill ride when he's approached by pal Javier Bardem. Up to his neck in debt and with a board that's losing confidence, his failing F1 team badly needs help, with a cocky but talented young driver (Damson Idris) more interested in posing for cameras than winning races, while the team's engineer (Kerry Condon) is fighting a losing battle against the sport's giants.

It takes very little time for Pitt to win over Condon, but Idris is far from impressed with his new team-mate and his old-style ideas. And he's even more unhappy when Pitt's risky strategies and fast moves start to work on the track. If only they could get the car to perform too...

The sports movie clichés pile up as the film speeds through all the usual ups and downs, but Pitt's charm carries the movie along effortlessly, Idris makes an ideal foil for him and Condon and Bardem also make their roles count. But it is the absurdly exciting races, brilliantly directed by Joseph Kosinski (think of his work with Top Gun: Maverick as an indicator), all the way to a breathtaking climax, which really count – and also all that matter.

Living out of his car and struggling in a desperate gig economy, Aziz Ansari is taken pity on by minor-league angel Keanu Reeves. So he swaps Ansari's life with self-centred tech bro Seth Rogen's, to show him that wealth and privilege have their own drawbacks... But do they? Really? Also on directing and writing duties, Ansari's film debut is a smart and cutting comedy about the haves and have-nots, with the three leads all excellent – Reeves as a naive, guileless heavenly spirit is worth the price of admission alone – bulked up by the ever wonderful Keke Palmer as Ansari's love interest. The points it ends up making may be Earth-shatteringly obvious, but that doesn't stop making them being absolutely true. 2025, 15, 97MIN

Michael Fimognari – director of the To All the Boys romcom franchise – ventures into action territory with this Christmas crime caper. Cash-strapped singletons Sophia (Olivia Holt) and Nick (Connor Swindells) come up with the audacious plot to rob a luxury London department store on Christmas Eve, 'stealing each other hearts' in the process. While Peter Serafinowicz and Lucy Punch are perfectly cast as evil shop bosses, Maxwell and Cynthia Stirling – both there to remind us Christmas is not just about the latest tech or designer handbag – the chemistry between leads Holt and Swindells is somewhat lacking. But if you want something less schmaltzy to the usual festive fare on offer, Jingle Bell Heist is a funny, hearty option. 2025, 15, 96MIN

Good Boy

Available now, Shudder ★★★

We've all seen films about people encountering things that go bump in the night, but what about a horror movie from the viewpoint of a dog? That's the premise director Ben Leonberg runs with, using his own pooch, Indy, as the star. The film follows the canine and his less-than-reliable master Shane Jensen, as they move into Jensen's grandpa's old place out in the sticks, where the dog starts picking up sights and sounds his human partner doesn't. The frights are fairly routine and there are scenes in which Leonberg cheats and leans away from his dog's perspective, but it's still an enjoyably inventive creepfest. 2025, 15, 72MIN

The Alto Knights

Sunday, 2.30pm & 9.45pm, Sky Premiere ★★★

This true-story Mafia drama about rival Italian-American gang bosses in 1950s New York boasts impressive pedigree with veteran director Barry Levinson and star Robert De Niro, playing both of the warring mobsters: Frank Costello and Vito Genovese. The actor makes his dual roles work, vividly establishing Costello as the cool, cautious one and Genovese as the lethal hot-head, so it's a shame that when the two sit down together we don't get more dramatic fireworks. Although not a classic of the genre, it's a handsome movie with a well told story. 2024, 15, 123MIN

Karate Kid: Legends

Friday, 8.50am & 8pm, Sky Premiere ★★★

Skilled kung-fu fighter Li (Ben Wang) is mentored by kindly Mr Han (Jackie Chan) in China – but then his doctor mum (Ming-Na Wen) gets a job in New York and the teen has to deal with that familiar round of new country, new school and new bullies, in this case equally skilled martial-arts student Conor (Aramis Knight). And there's a catch: mum doesn't want him fighting any more, due to a tragedy involving his brother.

Li has a lot on his plate, then, but still has room to get involved with local girl Mia (Sadie Stanley) whose dad Victor (Joshua Jackson) is an ex-boxer in need of brushing up his skills to pay off a loan from the gangster who also happens to be Conor's dad.

Having cooked up a hearty stew of ideas, director Jonathan Entwistle then brings them to the boil, with Li acting as mentor to Victor, while Chan arrives in the Big Apple to persuade mum to let the lad fight again. And, with the lucrative 5 Boroughs martial-arts tournament coming up, of which Conor is the reigning champ, there's no time to lose, so Chan nips off to bring back original 1980s Karate Kid Ralph Macchio to help hone a new champion.

It's a breathless, overstuffed film, but it's also really enjoyable. Li is appealing, while Chan and Macchio sparkle together. The pivotal fight and training scenes are also handled with aplomb and the humour is well placed, too. 2025, 12, 94MIN

Nick Frost stars in this corny but enjoyable comedy as a former salsa-dancing champ who stopped dancing in his teens and became a slobbish loser. Two decades later, however, the arrival of his new, salsa-loving boss (Rashida Jones) at work inspires him to get back in shape on the dance floor. What ensues is silly and cheesy but enormous fun if you are in the right mood. 2013, 15, 98MIN

LIVE DARTS

From Thursday, Sky Sports Darts, Sky Sports Main Event & Sky Showcase

World champion Luke 'The Nuke' Littler begins the defence of his title at London's Alexandra Palace as darts fans gather in force (and fancy dress) when this year's tournament begins on Thursday.

It's been quite a 12 months for the Warrington teenager after he sensationally claimed his first PDC world crown. Now the world No 1 after defeating rival Luke Humphries to win the Grand Slam of Darts, he will be favourite at the Ally Pally event, which features an expanded field of 128 players and a record prize fund of £5 million, with the winner taking a cool £1 million.

However, someone who knows how to defeat the 18-year-old star is three-time women's world champion Beau Greaves, who beat Littler in the recent PDC World Youth Championship.

We caught up with Greaves, 21, who's making her second appearance at the tournament, for an exclusive chat…

Superstar Luke Littler

World Darts Championship

THE MAIN EVENT

Darts sensation Beau Greaves is out to beat Luke Littler at Ally Pally

Luke Humphries won the event in 2024

Beau Greaves

What are your aims going into the championship? I haven't set myself any targets. I'm just looking forward to it. I wasn't ready when I played three years ago. I was too negative, but now I know I'm good enough. I'm playing well, I feel confident, and I'm ready for the challenge.

Who are your favourites to win the title? It's hard to make predictions because you never know what's going to happen on the day. A lot of the focus is on the two Lukes, but there are so many incredible players out there and it's going to be really competitive.

Did you enjoy your win over Luke Littler in October? It was a great match, but to me it was just another game. We were both in the zone. Hopefully my win inspires more girls to get involved in the game.

Do you like playing Luke? I really enjoy it. I've known Luke since he was about 11 or 12 and he's an incredible player. He makes the game look so simple and beating him did wonders for my confidence.

What inspired you to get into darts? We had a dartboard up at home when I was a kid. My brother Taylor played on the PDC's Development Tour so I began practising with him, and it all grew from there. I've always been shy and quiet, and darts has brought me out of my shell a lot.

What's your greatest achievement to date? Winning three consecutive WDF Women's World Championship titles, and my 86-game winning run on the Women's Series this year has been unreal.

Your walk-on track is Rockin' All Over the World by Status Quo. Why that one? I've been using it ever since I can remember – I'm not sure why, but it's a great song which really gets the crowd going.

Champions League

Tuesday & Wednesday, kick-offs 8pm, Prime Video & TNT Sports

The pick of the ties for matchday six features 15-time winners Real Madrid against Manchester City at the Bernabéu Stadium on Wednesday. The sides met in last season's two-legged play-off round when a Kylian Mbappé hat-trick at home sealed a 6-3 aggregate win for Carlo Ancelotti's Spanish giants. TNT Sports is also showing Chelsea away to Atalanta and Spurs at home to Slavia Prague on Tuesday, plus Newcastle's trip to Bayer Leverkusen and Arsenal's visit to Club Brugge on Wednesday. This week's Prime Video match on Tuesday sees an impressive Inter Milan side taking on Liverpool at the San Siro, where the Reds have won on all four of their previous Champions League appearances.

FA Cup: Second Round

Friday 5 Dec–Monday, BBC2 & TNT Sports

TNT Sports is showing eight second-round matches live, beginning with Leyton Orient's trip to Salford City on Friday 5 December (kick-off 7.30pm). BBC2 has additional live coverage of two of the ties, as National League outfit Sutton United host League Two's Shrewsbury Town on Saturday (kick-off 5.15pm) and National League side Boreham Wood take on League Two strugglers Newport County on Sunday (kick-off 2.30pm).

European Champions Cup

Sat & Sun, Premier Sports

As the opening pool matches continue over the weekend, Harlequins travel to four-time champions Leinster with some trepidation (kick-off 5.30pm), having been demolished 62-0 at Croke Park last season as eight different Leinster players scored tries, including Sam Prendergast. Also on Saturday, Premiership champions Bath host Munster at the Rec (kick-off 8pm) where Bath coach Johann van Graan faces his former club. Sunday's fixtures include last season's runners-up Northampton Saints in action in France, against an in-form Pau (kick-off 1pm).

Abu Dhabi Grand Prix

Sun, race starts 1pm, Sky Sports F1 & Sky Sports Main Event

A fascinating Formula One season closes in Abu Dhabi with more celebrations in store for McLaren, who won the constructors' title at Yas Marina last year, with Britain's Lando Norris taking the chequered flag in the day-night race. This season has been even better for the team, with Norris and Australia's Oscar Piastri blowing the opposition away in the drivers' championship.

KIDS WATCHLIST

Great shows for young viewers (from tots to teens) on linear TV and streaming

Percy Jackson and the Olympians

First two eps Wednesday, then weekly, Disney+

The first season of the fantasy adventure ended with us wanting more, after Percy (Walker Scobell) and his friends Annabeth (Leah Sava Jeffries) and Grover vowed to meet back at Camp Half-Blood the next year.

But a demigod's life is never that simple: roll on season two, and Percy has to set off on a quest across the Sea of Monsters to rescue Grover, who has been kidnapped, and find a way to save the camp from danger. It promises to be an action-packed adventure, and we can't wait...

CBeebies Panto: Cinderella

Saturday, 9.25am, CBeebies & BBC iPlayer

One of our much-loved fairytale stories is retold CBeebies-style, with a host of our favourite stars bringing the characters of Cinderella to colourful life.

Recorded in front of a live audience at Bradford's Alhambra Theatre, the show is full of catchy songs, dancing and panto laughs for the whole family – and you'll have great fun spotting the familar CBeebies stars.

More great shows to watch this week...

Star Wars: Young Jedi Adventures NEW

From Monday, Disney+

Jedi younglings Kai, Lys and Nubs face off against a mischievous droidmaster, and make three new droid friends: Beezer, Dozer and Gigi.

Zootropolis

Available now, Disney+

Before you head to the cinema to watch Zootropolis 2, you can set the scene by watching the 2016 original, in which Judy Hopps and Nick Wilde solve the mystery of animals who are disappearing from the city.

A Paw Patrol Christmas

From Sun, Paramount+

In this extended Christmas adventure, the pups leap to the rescue when Santa catches a cold and is unable to deliver the presents.

How to Get to HEAVEN from BELFAST

FIRST LOOK

A quirky comedy drama follows a trio of pals on an epic journey

Dara, Saoirse and Robyn

A decades-long friendship is at the heart of Netflix's upcoming comic thriller How to Get to Heaven from Belfast.

The eight-part series, airing from February, is penned by Derry Girls creator Lisa McGee and centres on three childhood pals in their late 30s – talented, free-spirited TV writer Saoirse (Roisin Gallagher), harassed mum of three Robyn (Sinéad Keenan), and reliable but shy carer Dara (Caoilfhionn Dunne).

When they receive an email saying that the estranged fourth member of their group has passed away, revelations at her wake lead them on an exciting but perilous trip through Ireland and further afield, as they uncover more about the past and cross paths with a host of colourful characters.

Michelle Fairley, Ardal O'Hanlon, Emmett J Scanlan, Tom Basden, Natasha O'Keeffe, Art Campion, Josh Finan, Bronagh Gallagher and Darragh Hand co-star.

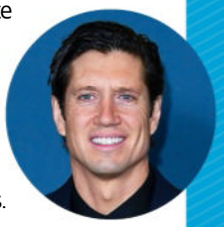
'This is the show I've always wanted to make; a mash-up of my two favourite genres, mystery and comedy,' says McGee. 'We want to keep you guessing and laughing. I can't wait for you to go on this wild adventure – an Irish odyssey full of twists, turns and arguments about eyelash extensions. Get ready to piece this puzzle together.

'And remember, a good friend keeps your secrets, but a great friend helps you bury them.'

WHAT'S NEXT FOR...

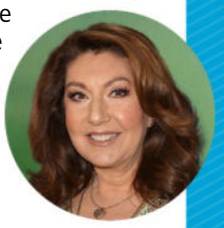
Vernon Kay

The star will host BBC2 quiz Do You Know Your Place? as celebrity guests demonstrate their knowledge of the UK, while The Traitors' Paul Gorton will travel across the country to set challenging posers.



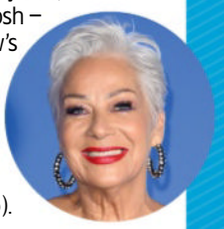
Jane McDonald

Two-part travelogue Jane McDonald's Nashville on 5 will follow the singer in Tennessee as she explores the home of country music and visit the likes of the Grand Ole Opry, while she also goes on a distillery tour.



Denise Welch

In six-part C4 comedy Stepping Up, the actor will portray Sue, the mum of well-meaning Josh – played by the show's writer Josh Pugh – who is keen to be a perfect stepdad to the kids of his partner Becky (Sophia Di Martino).



Ronan Keating

Ronan Keating's Wild Atlantic, airing on the BBC, will see the singer showcase Ireland's stunning west coast as he rediscovers his childhood haunts on trips to Cork, Kerry, Mayo, Sligo, Donegal and Derry.

AL AGNEW ARTWORK, DEPICTING WOLVES AND AURORA BOREALIS | SCULPTED AND HANDPAINTED WOLVES | LED ILLUMINATION & FLAMELESS CANDLES

A perfect way to bring the magic of the wild wolf and Aurora Borealis home

Experience the regal majesty of the mighty wolf on an enchanting crystal-clear night in the forest, with the Aurora Borealis painting the sky above in hues of pink, blue, and green. The 'Guardians Of The Night' Illuminated Centrepiece, available exclusively from The Bradford Exchange, brings Al Agnew's masterful depiction of the untamed wilderness to life.

Handsculpted and handpainted, with illumination and flameless LED candles

This sculpted centrepiece is handcrafted and handpainted, capturing the essence of the wild with two lifelike timber wolves roaming through their snow-covered habitat. Behind them, evergreen trees shimmer with glitter, illuminated by LED lights in Aurora Borealis colours. To further elevate the scene, three flameless LED votive candles flicker with a warm ambient glow. A rustic, wood-textured base showcases Al Agnew's artwork, depicting the wolf pack and Northern Lights. Limited to only 9,999 editions worldwide, each sculptural centerpiece is hand numbered ensuring no two pieces are alike.
